CARLOAD OF SHERIFFS.

Successful Raid on Liquor Salts in Hardwick.
St. Johnsbury, July 6.—For the second time this year the village of Hardwick was the scene of a wholesale liquor raid. A special train bearing Sheriff George Winch and twenty-eight deputies left here Saturday morning at 4 o'clock and returned at noon with two wagon loads of liquor and seventeen prisoners. Fourteen places were searched and seizure in nine.

Those arrested were Mary Constantino, Carmelo Constantino, Mrs. Mary Cordella, Eddie Ban, M. Pissani, Francesco Vavala, Andrea Gidule, Michael Angelo, Mrs. M. Rossi, Mrs. Julia Lavanna, Mrs. Peter Petrola, G. Albertina, Mrs. Rosina Ruse, P. Mena, G. Cervini, A. Costa and Mrs. Petrina Gallia. All are Italians, Eddie Ban, one of the respondents, was convicted Tuesday on the charge of keeping with intent to sell.

They were arraigned in court and placed under bonds of from $300 to $1000 to appear in the present term of county court. Bail was furnished in all cases.

The raid was planned by State Attorney Robert W. Simmonds and Sheriff Winch and was so well timed that the town was taken entirely by surprise and as a result a dry Fourth is anticipated in Hardwick's Italian quarter.

LEON TRACKED TO PHILADELPHIA.

Vessel Will Be Searched on Arrival at Destination—How Clue Was Obtained.
New York, July 6.—Word has been received through the Pennsylvania police that evidence had been found in that city tending to show that Leon murder king, the Chinaman accused of the murder of Elsie Sigel, had sailed from Philadelphia on a tramp steamer on June 10. This is one day after the murder of Elsie Sigel had been committed.

The name of the vessel has not been announced here, but it is understood that the police have given instructions to have her searched at the port destination.

Leon conducted a laundry in Philadelphia before coming to New York and is said to have ample amount of funds and a well-to-do uncle in that city. It is said that he was traced to Philadelphia through appeals made by friends there for aid.

GOV. JOHNSON'S PLAN.

Press Bureau May Operate for Him in Due Time.
Minneapolis, Minn., July 6.—Gov. John A. Johnson will not make a personal and aggressive bid for the nomination for president of the United States in 1912, yet it is a reasonably safe prediction that two years from this summer there will be a regular Johnson organization with a press bureau preparing the way for the Minnesota politician to make the standard-bearer of the national Democracy. The Johnson campaign for president really will begin with the campaign for the election of a Democratic Congress next year. Democratic hopes are built on a popular revulsion against the Republican party as a consequence of the Aldrich-Borah tariff bill, producing a landslide that will elect a Democratic House and give them once more some Northern senators. They will make a hard fight from one end of the country to the other in the effort to capture the lower House and it will assume all the aspects of a national campaign.

DEATH OF F. A. BRAGG.

Prominent Citizen of Fayston Died of Heart Disease.
Montpelier, July 6.—Francis A. Bragg, a prominent citizen of Fayston, died suddenly Saturday morning of heart disease at his home. Mr. Bragg represented Fayston in the Legislature of 1896, was a member of the town school board at the time of his death, and had held nearly all the town offices in Fayston. He leaves a wife and two children. His funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at his late home.

BARRE TEAM WON MATCH

Old Pine Club of St. Johnsbury Was the Loser.

BY THE SCORE OF 14 TO 10

Best Playing of the Day Was by Turner of the Visiting Team, Who Went Around in a 35 Each Time.

The Tally.

The Barre Golf club defeated the Old Pine club of St. Johnsbury on the former's links yesterday afternoon, the score being 14 to 10 by the Nassau system of scoring. The best playing of the day was by Turner, the first man on the visiting team. Turner went around in two 35's, which is perhaps the best match score ever made on the Barre links. What makes Turner's score more unusual is the fact that he does not use any wooden clubs, depending on his irons for all tee and field shots.

The visiting team was served a luncheon by the members of the Barre club. The return match will be played at St. Johnsbury on the thirteenth. The scores of Saturday's match are as follows:

ALLAN REID'S PLAYING.

Barre Boy at Norwich Led Team in Batting and Fielding.

Under the efficient coaching of Harlow A. Whitney, M. D., resident surgeon, Norwich has turned out the best baseball team which she has had for many years. Capt. Reid made the best average of any man on the team. His batting average was .355 and he fielded for 1,000. The team has not been shut out by team during the season and they have scored 41 runs to their opponents' 43. They have played ten games, six of which they won, lost three, and tied one. With every man of this year's team returning to college next year, Norwich will have a winning aggregation.—Northfield News.

POLICE CHIEF SHOT.

Wisconsin Officer Victim of Supposed Horse Thief.

Chicago, July 6.—Chief of Police Owen O'Hare, of Kenosha, Wis., was shot and mortally wounded last night by an unidentified man whom he suspected of being a horse thief. The assassin escaped, but a posse of armed men is scouring the country to capture him. O'Hare, who has a local reputation as a "gun fighter" and is known among his friends as "the fighting chief of Kenosha," was completely surprised by the attack, but after regaining his feet, while the blood was flowing from his wound, gave chase until he fell exhausted. A short time later the assassin fired two shots at Deputy Sheriff H. F. Kreuger, but failed to hit him.

The suspect horse thief drove into Kenosha from Evanston about 9 o'clock and put his horse and buggy at Munger's stable. The horse showed the effects of a hard drive, and when the man gave orders that the horse be hitched up ready to depart at daybreak, employees became suspicious and telephoned to police headquarters. Chief O'Hare personally answered the summons, but when he arrived at the livery stable he found the man had left. O'Hare located him in a restaurant. On the way to the station O'Hare pressed him to explain how he came in possession of the rig. Just as they reached the entrance to the police station, which is upstairs in the central fire department, the chief was heard to say: "I believe you stole the outfit" and instantly the suspect drew a revolver from his hip pocket and fired one shot into the chief's left breast.

May Abolish Postoffice.

Swanton, July 6.—A marked change in Swanton's rural free delivery route No. 1 went into effect Monday, when the delivery of the mail was reversed the carrier going first to Swanton Junction. With this change it is now probable that the postoffice at Swanton Junction will be discontinued.

ONLY BAR IN PERIL.

Brattleboro May Have to Be Officially Thirsty.

Brattleboro, July 6.—The only open bar within a radius of many miles of Brattleboro is in peril. The town of Vernon voted for license at the last town meeting, but the towns nearby in Vermont, Massachusetts and New Hampshire went dry.

George E. Alderman proprietor of the hotel in South Vernon, applied for a license and the commissioners gave him one although there was opposition by Atty. W. R. Daley of Brattleboro, representing L. W. Brown of Vernon and citizens of Northfield and Mr. Hermon Mass, where are located the Moody schools, attended by a large number of young men.

Mr. Daley and Deputy Sheriff C. I. Knapp served upon Mr. Alderman a writ of quo warranto, issued by Chief Justice John Russell of the Vermont supreme court, commanding him to appear at the October term of court in Montpelier to show by what right he is selling liquor. He is directed to make answer in six days. The complainant is ordered to take and file testimony in 10 days thereafter, after which Mr. Alderman is given five days in which to file testimony in rebuttal.

A statute enacted by the last legislature provides that no license shall be granted to be operated other than in the principal village or settlement in a town voting license and that if there is no village the license place shall be treated as nearly as possible to the center of population of the town and not nearer the state line than two miles. The complainants claim that by the word village the statute means an incorporated village not merely a cluster of houses.

There is no incorporated village in Vernon. They contend that therefore Mr. Alderman's license is void because the hotel is within 60 feet of the Massachusetts line, the state line being running close to the hotel and cutting off all but about 25 houses.

They further contend that the principal settlement in the town is at what is called Vernon, near the center of the town, where are located the railroad station, town hall, town clerk's office, church, grange hall and 35 houses. The town has not voted until recently. It is claimed that Mr. Alderman threatened to close his hotel unless the town voted license.

C. S. GALAISSE ARRESTED.

Brookline, Mass., Policeman Takes Man from Montpelier.

C. S. Galaisse of Brookline, Mass., who was indicted three years ago for larceny while employed as manager of a dry goods and clothing store owned by R. W. Neal, and whose whereabouts have since been unknown, was arrested Saturday at Montpelier by policeman A. S. Page of Brookline and taken to that town in the afternoon.

Galaisse arrived in Montpelier a few days ago with his wife to visit his mother, and the authorities in Brookline were notified. The indictment charges him with the larceny of $400.

AUTO OVER AN EMBANKMENT

W. E. Aldrich is Badly Hurt at Rutland

HIS SKULL FRACTURED

As He Is Thrown from Machine—One Woman Was Killed and Another Burned Near New York.

Rutland July 6.—William E. Aldrich of this city was probably fatally injured in an automobile accident, about two miles south of this city Sunday afternoon, his skull being badly fractured.

The car was being driven by E. L. Send of Wallingford and also contained E. G. Senf, son of the former John B. Earle of Wallingford and E. O. Dunton of this city.

In turning out to pass another vehicle the car went over a six-foot embankment, turning on to its side. Mr. Aldrich was thrown some distance, and it is thought that as he passed between the uprights the top of his head struck a large brass knob. His physicians say his condition is critical, although he has a chance of recovery through an operation.

Miss Aldrich owns a cheese factory in Shrewsbury and is also a dealer in lumber and lumber property.

AUTO MISHAPS IN NEW YORK.

One Young Woman Killed and Another Was Seriously Injured.

New York, July 6.—One young woman was instantly killed and another seriously injured in two unusual automobile accidents in Long Island Sunday.

Miss Gladys Young, employed as a governess at Glen Cove, L. I., in the family of Fred B. Pratt, jr., president of the Pratt Institute was pinned beneath the overturned body of a small electric runabout and her neck was broken. In entering the gateway of the Pratt grounds she forgot the small chain that hangs between the two gateways and, averting the machine suddenly when she recollected she lost control of it and plunged over a five foot embankment.

Andrew McWilliams of New Brighton Staten Island, ran into one Brooklyn trolley car while trying to dodge another, and, with his companion, Miss Mac Smith of Jersey City, was hurled to the street, a mass of flames when the gasoline tank exploded. A passing teamster rolled them in horse blankets, but it feared that Miss Smith may not recover. McWilliams was seriously burned. The automobile was destroyed.

FOUND HANGING FROM TREE.

Olia Christopher, Norwegian Farmhand Ended His Life in Woods.

Chester, July 6.—The body of Olia Christopher, the Norwegian farmhand, who disappeared a week ago Sunday was found hanging from a tree in the woods on the farm of F. Morrow at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The Morrow farm adjoins that of H. H. Field for who Olia worked. The body was prepared for burial and interred in the cemetery near the Fanny Allen hospital yesterday afternoon. Olia had hanged himself with the piece of rope which disappeared with him.

ISOLATED CAPE HATTERAS.

Its Shifting Sands—Breeding Place of Birds—Sailing the Fishing Skiffs.

There are few names more widely known in the United States or localities about which a greater ignorance prevails than Cape Hatteras. Situated as it is at the angle where the long strip of sand beach from Cape Henry south turns at a right angle to the westward, with the widest part of Pamlico sound between it and the mainland and with the beach both west and north end into several islands by inlets from sound to ocean, its position is most isolated. No means of transportation exist along the beach, and with the nearest railway station from which a regular transportation route is operated nearly a hundred miles away, it is an easier place to talk about than to visit.

Like all sand promontories, the point of the cape is always moving. An old wreck imbedded deep in the sand and showing only the stumps of her masts and bowsprit and the rusty skeletons of what were once her chain plates and dead eyes is now a quarter of a mile or more inland. Twenty years ago she is said to have lain in the water, where she struck or drifted ashore, the land now outside of her having been built up since by the action of the wind and waves. A resident told me that he owned the copper that still remained on her bottom, having bought it as it stood at the "vendue" or wreck sale. I don't think anyone is likely to steal it from him.

In the summer time the breeding gulls and terns occupy certain shoals and bare "jumps" out in the sound, and now that the protective laws are being enforced their numbers are rapidly increasing. Herons of various kinds nest in the woods, and so also do a pair or two of bald eagles, and last summer several good sized flocks of brown pelicans enveloped some of the nearby reefs and sandy islands.

Two features connected with the sailing of the fishing skiffs used hereabouts are new to me. One is that of using a member of the crew as shifting ballast. A plank is run out over the side, the inner end caught under the lee washboards, while on the outer end with legs dangling over the water sits the man acting as ballast. And this not in racing, mind you, but in every day sailing. The other is the practice of "noddin'" as I heard it called. In moderate weather when the skill is only lightly gliding along one man will stand up alongside the centerboard on the weather side, and facing outward will steadily rock side-wise from one foot to the other with the idea that it makes the boat sail faster. And perhaps it does.—Charlotte Observer.

MURDER VERDICT.

Sir Curzon Wylie's Death Was Premeditated, Says Jury.

London, July 6.—The jury in the inquest into the death of Lieut. Col. Sir Curzon Wylie, who was murdered by a fanatical Hindu student on the night of July 1 at a reception that was being given by the Imperial institute, returned yesterday a verdict of murder against the student, Madar Dhinagari.

The evidence showed that the crime was premeditated, the murder having for a long time practiced with a pistol, shooting at various various distances. The pistol used against Col. Wylie was an automatic one. It failed when Dhinagari attempted to shoot himself because the pressure of his grip was insufficient to lift the cartridge from the magazine to the chamber.

WOMAN TORN BY AN ALLIGATOR.

She Shoots It Five Times and Escapes from Cage.

Paris, July 3.—"Princess Silva," an alligator trainer said to be an American, was attacked by an alligator yesterday in the presence of a big crowd at Luna park, while putting the vicious animal, which recently had been brought out from Florida, through a series of exercises. The alligator seized and crushed the woman's right arm in its jaws.

With rare presence of mind she drew a revolver with her left hand and emptied the five shots into the alligator's head. It let go its hold and "Princess Silva" was removed from the cage. Her injuries are not fatal.
